New Report exposes Uniqlo's abuse of Chinese garment workers

Friday 9 March 2018, by War on Want (Date first published: 1 October 2016).

The report, “This way to distortion” exposes the hypocrisy of Uniqlo’s claims of commitment to ‘corporate social responsibility’ and ‘making the world a better place’.

The report exposes the hypocrisy of UNIQLO's commitment to 'corporate social responsibility' and 'making the world a better place'. A series of undercover investigations by War on Want partner, Students and Scholars against Corporate Misbehaviour (SACOM), showed excessive overtime, low pay, dangerous working conditions and oppressive management to be rife in UNIQLO's supplier factories in China.
