Statue Square March & vigil

Lots of ppl have voiced their opinions about China esp with rallies at their embassies around the world. However Indian's Asia largest democracy was silent for quite some time until things got out of hand and violent photos surfaced.

This particular Indian company with $150 million to the Burmese junta has become very "jittery" <http://www.mizzima.com/MizzimaNews/News/2007/Sep/102-Sep-2007.html>.

Let's give them more reasons to be - it takes 1 minute of your time to fill out a contact form to voice your protest against their business venture with the military here:
http://www.ongcvidesh.com/online_form.asp

If enough people do this, in no time we may hear about their $150 million dollar withdrawal from Myanmar. We can make a difference NOW however please be courteous with your complaints and refrain from using bad words, despite the upsetting circumstances.

PUBLIC SERVICES INTERNATIONAL JOINS WORLD DAY OF ACTION

PSI is calling on its affiliates to join the World Day of Action on Saturday 6th October. Participants are invited to wear a red headband and to tie the headbands on government buildings, or other key landmarks to signify the thousands of lives that hang in the balance. Please write to rights world-psi.org and inform us of your participation and send in photos as well.

An international taskforce has now been assembled by international human rights' NGOs and Burma support groups based in Europe and North America. Its work is coordinated by "Crisis Action" (London, UK, www.crisisaction.org). Organisations supporting the Burma Day on 6th October include Amnesty International, the International Federation of Human Rights' Leagues (FIDH, Paris), Human Rights Watch, the Burma Campaign UK, the US Campaign for Burma, AVAAZ, the ITUC and many others throughout the world.

Action is expected to take place on all continents, at 12:00 (noon) local time, on Saturday 6th October, in the following countries: Australia, Austria, Belgium, Canada, Chile, Denmark, Germany, Hong Kong, India, Ireland, Japan, Luxemburg, Malaysia, Mongolia, New Zealand, the Netherlands, Norway, South Africa, Korea (ROK), Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Thailand, Taiwan, USA and the United Kingdom. Other countries are still likely to join.
